

Join KraftHeinz as TECHNOLOGIST 😊

About the company

To be the BEST food company, growing a BETTER world isn't just a dream – it's our GLOBAL VISION. Kraft Heinz is the 5th largest food and beverage in the world. This is the perfect time to join our team. To be the best, we want the best – best brands, best practices and, most importantly, the best people.

About the Position

We have an excellent opportunity available for a Technologist to make life delicious at Kraft Heinz. The Technologist lies within the International Kraft Heinz R&D . You'll be working in a high performing team and reporting into New Product Development Lead.

Responsibilities

Application of technical expertise to develop, scale up and validate new and existing products, processes and process parameters in Kraft Heinz in line with company quality guidelines requirements

Execution and validation of actual trials of new recipes and packaging

Making sure product and process best practices are followed and implemented

Requirements

Master Degree in Food Technology / Food Chemistry / or relevant science discipline

Min 1 year experience as technologist in food / chemical / pharma company

Very good command of English

Curiosity, positivity and enthusiasm

Passion for improvement and proactive nature

Analytical and excellent communication skills and focus on result

Readiness to travel – onboarding planned in our factories and R&D centers abroad before actual employment in Pudliszki factory

Send CV to: katarzyna.radecka@kraftheinz.com